

THE INDIE AUTHOR'S GUIDE TO PROMO SITES

SARAHNEOFIELD.COM

Hi friend! Thanks for downloading this guide to 250+ book promo sites!

This 'little' booklet is the result of about a week's effort, pulling together every book promo site I could find across the web.

There are lots of lists out there, but many fail to tell you the real costs involved, or include websites that are no longer available.

It can also be difficult to figure out which listings your book may even be eligible for. Some sites charge indie authors exorbitant prices while giving free publicity to the big five publishers. Others have genre-based restrictions. (Some sites, for instance, will not list children's or religious books, or books with erotic or violent content). On the other hand, there are other sites which specialise in children's, religious, romance/erotica or scifi and won't list books outside of these genres.

In the following pages, you'll find:

1. Every free and paid book promo site I could find (with price ranges and requirements) (page 3)
2. A list of genre-specific websites (page 13)
3. Sites commonly included on lists which don't seem to work any more or have issues authors should know about (page 14)

I have no affiliations with any of the listed sites, and inclusion in this list should be considered endorsement. As Michelle Raab points out, quality control is vital when it comes to marketing. While this mega-list contains 250 active sites that promote all genres, as well as more than 20 genre-specific sites, that doesn't mean you need to take a scattershot approach and submit to all of them. Take a close look at any promotional channel before signing up:

- What other books is this newsletter or site promoting?
- Are they the kind (in terms of genre and quality) that you would like to see your book shelved next to?

The latest information

I produced this booklet in the course of searching for ways to promote my own novel, Number Eight Crispy Chicken. All information is accurate to the best of my knowledge as of mid-2019. But as new sites pop up, old ones go down, and prices and deals change all the time across the internet, this static document will certainly be outdated soon!

Members of my Street Team have access to a live, online version of this spreadsheet, which includes coupon codes and other tricks for you to save up to $100 on paid promotion sites. Additionally, members can add comments on which sites worked for them, and I will do the same, posting results from my own experimentations. If you're interested in helping to promote a book that mixes humour with issues of social justice, in exchange for more resources like this, please sign up at Sarah's Street Team.

I designed the cover for this booklet using Canva.
